Translution Pro

Translution Pro is a translation email system that gives you immediate communication with your customers, partners and business associates, at no cost. All you have to do is to send the email, press the "Send" button and your contacts will receive your email translated into their own language with the original message fully viewable as a PDF or HTML document. You will never miss any important emails in your inbox, your customers will never miss any important customer information, or your partners will never miss important business information. Use Translution Pro to: * Secure your email from being hijacked by spammers * Improve communication within your organisation * Communicate with your customers, partners and suppliers * Receive your emails instantly translated into their own language * Your customers and suppliers will never miss any important customer or supplier information in your emails * Send your customers, suppliers, and partners email that is instantly translated into their own language, all in the same email * That is safe and easy to use * Save on postage by receiving emails translated to your own language * Save on labour costs for your team, and time wasted on writing and sending out emails * Keep your customers, suppliers, and business contacts informed of the progress of your business, and make sure they always know exactly where they stand Your email will never contain any codes that your customers or your business contacts can use to decode your email. When your customers receive your email translated into their own language, they will view the original message as a PDF or HTML document, so they can print your email at any size, in any format, and in their own language. When you reply or forward a translated email, it will contain both the message from your original email and from the translated email. It is possible to view the original message as a PDF, HTML or plain text document. Translution Pro is designed for the discerning individuals with regular translation needs and for businesses of all sizes, that wish to communicate instantly without language barriers with overseas branches, suppliers, distributors and partners.

Translution Pro lets you write your email in your own language in the normal way, press the "Send" button, and your correspondents will receive the email automatically translated into their own language. And because Translution's unique patented messaging architecture allows us to encrypt and hide the original text in all translated emails, you and your email contacts can not only view/print the translated text but by simply choosing the Filter button you can also view/print the original text (requires Translution Add-in to be installed) This same messaging architecture also ensures that your message will only ever be translated from the original, even when you reply or forward emails. This works even when the email has a long thread of previous emails in different languages. It ensures that the highest quality of translation is provided. What's New In?

Wish to send and receive emails in different languages, with as many recipients as you like? Is your emailing productivity being affected by your inability to match your original emails with your replies and forwards? Is translation quality more important than your original email messages? Do you wish your employees, partners and distributors can read your emails in their native languages and save you time in answering emails in your own language? Do you send and receive email to overseas offices and colleagues? Do you receive emails from suppliers, distributors and customers in several different languages, but you can only reply to them in your own language? Do you wish to be able to view and print the original email message for any translations you receive, even if it is a reply to an email you have just sent out? Do you wish to keep your emails confidential and secure from all those who might intercept or copy and paste the original? Does your company need to legally comply with recent information laws, such as those imposed on enterprises by the European Union? Are you a business, or a businessman, or an individual working for a company that has its' head office in a country with differing languages in the same continent? Does your company deal in trade and business with other nations? Are you dealing with suppliers, distributors and partners in several countries, or several different countries and languages? Does your company do business on an international scale? Translution Pro is the Perfect solution to your above problems, giving you the freedom to write emails in your own language, and replies, forwards and replies to replies as well. You can reply to the original text, and to the translation, and the original text will always be there, even if you have a long email thread. The translation is done by Translution's unique patented technology, which assigns language categories, and allows these to be matched to words and phrases from the original, which is then encoded and mixed with your original email.

This also means that replies and forwards are possible, so that you can reply to or forward emails with replies or forwards. This same technology allows for translating the original email message to be viewed or printed after translation, which helps to satisfy those companies that need to comply with recent information laws, such as those imposed on enterprises by the European Union. The functionality of Translution Pro is similar to that of the Translution Standard product, however Translution Pro offers
